

Short Takes, By George McClellan “The only thing we have to Fear is...

April 24, 2010

Government, our government. The creatures from the lobotomized left, who somehow believe that Americans are unable to do for themselves, who believe that the Constitution and Bill of Rights are transitional living documents, amenable to change at their whim, who believe that only a happy life for its citizens can be guaranteed by government, use fear as the tool of their oppression. Governments have used fear for centuries to control its populations.

The Democrats now use fear as their tool to enact their stupid, expensive, schemes to extract by theft the wealth of the producers to provide sustenance to the mooching non-producers that our free society has somehow allowed to multiply. I fear that the illegal immigration issue will soon raise its ugly head again so the Democrats can refill their depleting rolls of free-loaders who will become grateful voters to keep them in office. Most important of all, since 9/11, has been the fear of terrorist, a fear aided and abetted by policies which allowed a Islamic Jihadist Major of the US Army to kill thirteen of his fellow soldiers, who allowed an another Islamic radical to shoot up a recruiting office in Arkansas and a nigerian jihadist to board an airplane which he attempted to blow up over Detroit. I fear this will continue

I fear that the Democrats are going to deliberately cause our fuel prices to soar beyond any common sense with their Cap and Trade scheme because the intent of the leader of the Progressive Democrats has all along been to destroy America by economic strangulation. His schemes will paralyze Americas economy and plunge the jobless numbers to even further depths of despair. I fear that our great leader cannot stop his lying. Every word that falls from his lips is designed to obfuscate, hide, confuse and with his glib tongue, paint rosy scenarios of his economic achievements based upon the power of his divine personality. I fear the game is given away when he is without his teleprompter. Any question that refutes his vision causes his brain to race, his tongue to flap with “em’s and ah’s” stumbling out in a confused mishmash of sublime idiocy.

We now hear our Secretary of State, Hillary Clinton, casting the bread of fear upon the waters of ignorance with the threat of nuclear proliferation by Islamic terrorists groups and countries. What do we do about it? Nothing! Our Progressive leadership places its trust in the hands of the United Nations to vote on ‘sanctions, after sanctions, after sanctions, while the Islamist laugh at us. The progressives spread fear when we win like with the Bush ‘Surge’ in Iraq. They spread fear when we lose, they spread fear when we do nothing. The foreign policy of our President is a shambles. For awhile, left the rest of the world wondered what was happening in America. When they realized that an apologist, Islamic nincompoop was in charge, they smiled. Then they snickered and now they are laughing out right and yet this man carry’s on in his messianic belief in the power of own will to effect the change he promised. He is surrounded by sycophants who nurture this belief because they too are Progressive Socialists who were once bottom dwellers, and believed that the achievers must have cheated and they, therefore, must have been swindled. It’s not fair, they think, and so the achievers must pay their fair share so all Americans will be equal, in misery. I fear this will not stop until Obama and his minions are out of power, and destroyed politically totally and completely.

I haven’t even mentioned the fear the environmentalists throw at us on a daily basis with water and food crisis, weather crisis, global warming crisis, indeed, the very air we breathe. This has got to stop! Go get ‘em! (24 April 10)
