

Obamanation

After watching the latest performance of that fellow who calls himself President of the United States, I don't know whether to laugh or cry. I'm going to make my point first then tell my story. The point is, this man is awful as a leader, gangster-ish as a politician, wimpy and weak as a Commander in Chief, indecisive as a thinker, a babbler without a teleprompter and basically unfit to even be an American and I don't even include the two other Democrat Party leaders who make up his trifecta of the Marx brothers. I don't know if America can wait two more years. He has got to go sooner rather than later. "Oh, can you be more specific?"

Let's see! On immigration, he only addressed the issue when the State of Arizona, adopted the Federal plan as law (almost word for word) and he challenges its legality on the basis the law might be discriminatory. Discriminatory against whom, illegal Mexicans? To make the law work it has to be applied as directed. To single out illegals is intended to be discriminatory. But, so we can be politically correct let's eliminate from profiling those who clearly do not look or speak like Mexicans such as: Nordics, Anglos, Teutonics, Celts, Slaves and Asians. That pretty much narrows the field. If it looks like a Mexican, walks like a Mexican and speaks like a Mexican, it's a pretty good bet it's a Mexican. Naturally, slipped in there among the Mexicans will be other Central Americans and those wonderful folks from the middle east. How about American born citizens of Mexican heritage? You can spot them right away. They speak like Americans (always a clue), are passably aware of American history and can give a straight answer to a direct question. Posting 1200 National Guard troops to the border without rules of engagement authority is flailing at the wind and serves only as a sop to the RINO's in congress - who damn well better get a move on themselves and keep this issue out in front of the public.

The Oil leakage in the Gulf of Mexico is another case in point demonstrating his incompetence. With his chin up, nose in the air, so he can look down it at his subjects, he immediately blames BP and then proceeds to go on a vacation. The Governor of Louisiana is screaming for Federal help and he goes on vacation. For the record, he didn't do anything for Nashville, Tennessee either when it suffered its first known flood in recorded history yet he jumps to send billions of our tax dollars to help Greece out of it self-inflicted financial woes. We should be following Greece down the drain very soon ourselves.

He wants to eviscerate our military by dropping the "don't ask, don't tell" program that has worked fairly well. Here's the problem with that and I will use as an example, a case I investigated years ago while I worked for the Navy: An officer was dutifully promoted to become the Commanding Officer of a Destroyer. Immediately he assumed command, he redecorated his private stateroom with red flocked wall paper, a red, tassel fringed lampshade and a bunch of incense candles. Oops, now that's what we call a clue!. Now, the Navy is loath to relieve a man of command of his ship, short of running it aground so they (we) kept an eye on him. He quickly changed his ship's command structure with his favorites in leadership roles. The Ships leading Chief was incredulous, complained out loud and was replaced. Soon there was a trail of favorites spending the night in his stateroom. Ship's moral dropped, its efficiency disappeared and its ratings dropped to the bottom. Now that, the Navy noticed. We did our investigation, and you should have heard the cheers from the other sailors when we took the lot in for interrogation. He wants females on submarines too. Those should make real love boats. We are in trouble folks. He wants an Obama Nation and what we've got is an Obamanation. Let's Go get 'em (27 May 2010)
