Short Takes

By George McClellan The Left's Religion

The 'Save the Earth' crowd, also known as "Progressives, Leftists, Socialists, Marxists, Communists and Democrats, have embraced climate change as their new religion and insist that we all do so as well...or we will die! They cite, as their gospel truths, the evidence of government paid scientists who are experts in climatology and know better than the rest of us what's going to happen, weather wise, in five, ten, twenty, fifty or one hundred years. They insist that the main cause of climate change is clearly man-made and therefore, to save ourselves, we must pony up billions of dollars, ruin our productive economies, organize our collective salvation under the umbrella of a one world government and pay them to save us. It is no longer "Save the Children"; It's save the polar bears. Ignore their lying, cheating and stealing.

Consider these names: Colima, Feugo, Santiaguito, Pacaya, POCOATEPETI, Montserrat, Tungurahua, Conception, Galeras, Nevado del Huila, Cerro Machin, Chaiten, Liaima, Sakurajma. I'll stop there because there are actually eighty-three of them worldwide. What do they have in common? They are all active volcanos, the first nine in the list, belching out tons of dust, smoke, debris and heavy metals into our atmosphere all on December, 11, 2009. And, all of these mentioned volcanos surround the Pacific Ocean Basin called the "Ring of Fire". I didn't even mention the European ones or the North American ones like those puffing away in Hawaii and Alaska and the Kamchatka Peninsula, or even those in Indonesia. The historical records reveal that Mount Etna, in Sicily, has been active for over 3500 years and that Stromboli, in Italy, has been active for over 2000 years. Well, the Save the Earth crowd doesn't seem to mention volcanos as possible contributors to the alleged global warming problem.

Dare I say it? Is it possible that maybe, just perhaps, it could be true that if all the active volcanos in the world, coupled with the hot air coming out of Copenhagen, the earth's temperature might rise an alarming .002 degrees C, thus plunging the world into either the dark abyss of frozen space or turn us into a glowing red cinder of cosmic debris slowly spinning unnoticed through the voids of space?

What would life forms of other planets say? "Look, there goes the former planet earth. It was once such a lovely place to vacation". Too bad they couldn't control bovine flatuation or the burning of coal to create electricity. Pity! What a shame.

What is alarming, however, is the fact that Obama's Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will declare CO₂ to be a dangerous greenhouse gas, harmful to human health and therefore subject to regulation under the Clean Air Act. Wow! Do you realize what that means? It means the EPA has now declared itself as the first identifiable US Government organization to bear the mantle of "Brown Shirts". Enter America's Totalitarian Epoch. This has got to be stopped, right now! Take action. Call your Senators and Representatives. Do something, but don't just sit there waiting for the other guy to do something.
